DEBUSSY: School Project

One hundred years since the death of one of the twentieth century's most charismatic composers – Claude Debussy – we pay tribute in music, pictures and words.

In a special event in October, pianist Iwan Llewelyn-Jones will perform a cross-section of Debussy's solo works for the piano; with an insight into the musical content provided by broadcaster and television presenter Bethan Rhys Roberts.

As part of the wider celebrations in the lead up to this event, Iwan Llewelyn-Jones and artist Catrin Williams visited Ysgol y Borth, Ysgol y Felinheli and Ysgol Llanfairpwll to inspire the children and to facilitate the creation of the colourful artworks exhibited here.
